

Royal Orchid Hotels announces two key leadership appointments

Royal Orchid Hotels Ltd. (ROHL) has announced two key leadership appointments, reinforcing its strategic focus on operational excellence, infrastructure resilience, and people-driven growth.

Vice President – Human Resources

Jayesh Wadher has been appointed Vice President – Human Resources. With over 23 years of extensive experience in HR leadership across leading hospitality brands such as Accor, Radisson, and most recently Pride Hotels Group, Wadher brings deep expertise in talent management, organisational development, and culture-building.

In his new role, he will lead the Human Resources function across ROHL's expanding portfolio, with a mandate to strengthen organisational capability, cultivate a high-performance culture, and align talent strategy with the company's long-term growth and expansion roadmap.

Vice President – Engineering

Charanjit Singh joins ROHL as Vice President – Engineering, bringing more than 25 years of distinguished experience with brands including ITC Hotels, The Leela Hotels, and IHG. He is recognised for his strong technical acumen, operational leadership, and expertise in corporate engineering strategy.

Throughout his career, Singh has led large-scale engineering operations, pre-opening audits, and compliance initiatives under the National Building Code 2016, consistently delivering zero-incident milestones. At ROHL, he will spearhead the company's engineering and infrastructure strategy, driving sustainable practices, energy efficiency, and operational reliability across its growing footprint.

Leadership Perspective

Commenting on the appointments, Chander K. Baljee, Chairman and Managing Director, said, "Jayesh Wadher and Charanjit Singh bring strong domain expertise and leadership depth that closely align with our vision. These appointments are integral to strengthening our people and infrastructure capabilities as we accelerate expansion across India.”
